LI-COR light and radiation sensors measure total solar radiation, photosynthetically active radiation (PAR), and lux. Light sensors are designed for ecological, plant research, underwater measurements, meteorological, and solar energy.

Accessories for solar power plants ensure comprehensive system operation, increase efficiency and longevity, and enhance overall safety. While these accessories can add additional costs and make system installation more complex, they are essential to fully utilize the solar power plant's potential and ensure its safe and efficient operation ...

Mounting bracket for the solar radiation and UV sensors of the Vantage Pro 2 weather stations.

Our silicon-based solar irradiance sensors (Si sensors) measure the irradiance intensity on your photovoltaic system with utmost precision. The world's no. 1 in reference cells. Large-area Reference Cell for Sun Simulators. Complementary Sensors, Junction Boxes and more. What makes silicon solar irradiance sensors so exceptional?

The Comptus A70H Series solar radiation sensors are available in several models; PAR, Insolation, Quantum, and general Solar Radiation. The A70H-A PAR Sensor measures photosynthetically active radiation (PAR) in the 400 to 700 nm range. The A70H-I Insolation Sensor measures solar radiation in the 280 to 2800 nm range. The A70H-Q Quantum Sensor ...
