Theoretical knowledge: Try to calculate, a fully charged 2.6AH 18650 ternary lithium battery, the electricity is $2.6 \times 3.65 \times 3.6 = 34.164$ kilo joules of energy. The energy generated by the muzzle of the general pistol is about 2.2 kilo joules, 1 joule is equivalent to 1 Newton of force, and the work done when the object moves 1 meter in the direction of the force, so within the range of 50 meters ...

Lithium (Li)-ion batteries have been the cornerstone of energy storage systems in the thriving development of modern consumer electronics. Furthermore, high-energy density cells of the 18650 format can exceed 3 Ah, for which myriad applications exist in aerospace and electric vehicles (EVs) with varying high-energy and high-power demands. 1, 2, 3 However, ...
